

Subject: Re: Digital display in the first-floor hallway
Date: Thursday, February 28, 2019 at 3:37:05 PM Pacific Standard Time
From: Jean-François Blanchette <blanchette@gseis.ucla.edu>
To: Diana Ascher <ascher@gseis.ucla.edu>

Hi Diana,

I know this is handled somewhere in Moore Hall, but I don't remember by whom. Maybe try external relations? Please, go ahead, and thank you for noticing it, nothing looks sadder than state of the art technology that is not maintained ... :)

Thank you!
Jean-François

On Feb 28, 2019, at 3:33 PM, Diana Ascher <ascher@gseis.ucla.edu> wrote:

Hi Jean-François,

I've noticed that the digital display in the first-floor hallway has not been working since September. I have contacted the folks over in YRL who run the UCLA Libraries' visual displays, and while we can't get a seat on their account, there is a free tier on risevision.com, which I can access for our use. I have a digital display item to show as part of my LAUC committee service. May I use the digital display to post this announcement (and others, as the Department requests)? Early on I was told I could help populate the digital display, but I never received any additional information. If you know to whom I should speak about getting access to this dormant but valuable resource, I'm happy to do it.

Many thanks,
Diana

Diana L. Ascher, PhD, MBA
Director, Information Studies Research Lab
Department of Information Studies
Graduate School of Education & Information Studies
University of California, Los Angeles
ascher@gseis.ucla.edu